

Weather and Future Plans Combined

Name: _____ Date: _____

LEARNING OBJECTIVE

The student will combine weather vocabulary with future tense to create a bilingual weather-based forecast and plan.

MATERIALS NEEDED

- poster board or paper
- markers or colored pencils
- ruler

HANDS-ON ACTIVITY

1. Divide your poster into a 5-day forecast grid, labeling each day in Spanish (using any 5 consecutive days of the week).
2. For each day, draw a simple weather symbol (sun, rain cloud, snow, wind) and write the weather phrase in Spanish underneath (e.g., 'Hará sol,' 'Lloverá,' 'Hará frío,' 'Nevará,' 'Estará nublado').
3. Under each weather symbol, write one future-tense sentence describing an activity that matches that weather (e.g., 'Como hará sol, iremos a la playa.').
4. Check that each of your 5 sentences uses a different verb in the future tense (not repeating the same verb 5 times).
5. Present your 5-day forecast out loud in Spanish as if you were a weather reporter.

QUESTIONS

1. Write your sunny-day sentence and its English translation.

2. Write your rainy-day sentence and its English translation.

3. What is the Spanish phrase for 'it will be cold,' and how is it different from 'hace frío' (it is cold)?

4. List the 5 different verbs you used across your 5 sentences.
